

Overview

This human trafficking awareness safety moment is designed to educate energy industry employees about human trafficking and how to respond. It can be completed in three or five minutes.

- 3 minutes = single slide + talking points
- 5 minutes = single slide + talking points + TAT's energy video trailer*

Materials

- Safety Moment Slide + Talking Points
- Energy wallet cards (1 per attendee)
- Hard hat stickers (1 per attendee)
- A/V Capabilities

TALKING POINTS

What is human trafficking?

Today's safety moment is brought to us by TAT to help us understand how we can make a difference in combating human trafficking.

Human trafficking is modern-day slavery. It is a global crime that happens in urban, suburban and rural communities. There are millions of victims of modern-day slavery worldwide, including thousands in the U.S. and Canada.

- Labor trafficking is when labor or services are induced through manipulation, threats or violence. This includes debt bondage, forced labor and involuntary child labor.
- Sex trafficking is human trafficking for purposes of sexual exploitation, which includes prostitution and pornography. Victims of sex trafficking may act as if they are involved in commercial sex voluntarily when, in reality, they are being manipulated, threatened or abused. Any minor involved in commercial sex is a victim of human trafficking.

Traffickers often groom their victims to win their love and trust or make false promises about work opportunities. By building bonds, traffickers gain additional control over their victims, which they will often use in combination with violence, threats and isolation.

Why the energy industry?

Because combating human trafficking improves community safety, these goals align with our company's values and priorities.

You may also be uniquely positioned to make a difference because of how traffickers operate. Sex traffickers are motivated by greed and profit, so they often target locations and situations with large groups of men in order to find sex buyers. This makes the energy industry a target.

Sometimes traffickers will move their victims in order to find new sex buyers, to keep their victims isolated or to evade law enforcement. When they travel, they are on the same roads and at the same hotels or motels, truck stops and gas stations as the rest of us.

The goal of this safety moment and our company's partnership with TAT is to educate, equip and empower you to recognize and report human trafficking if you encounter it.

Signs that someone may be a victim of human trafficking include:

- lack knowledge of their whereabouts,
- are not in control of their own identification documents,
- have their communication restricted or controlled, or
- are exchanging sex for anything of value.

If you suspect human trafficking, whether an adult or minor, call law enforcement. If you are talking with a suspected adult victim who wants help, call the national human trafficking hotline.

How to get involved

TAT has a series of training resources for the energy industry. One thing you can do right now is download the TAT App using the QR code on this screen or in your wallet card.

By being knowledgeable, aware and willing to get involved, you can make a difference.

*5 minute version: show the trailer to TAT's energy training video.

GET THE TAT APP!

REQUEST TAT MATERIALS

Contact TAT to request wallet cards, hard hat stickers, window decals and downloadable versions of its training videos.